The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the first and third flow paths being substantially straight in claim 5 must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

The specification is objected to as failing to provide proper antecedent basis for the claimed subject matter. See 37 CFR 1.75(d)(1) and MPEP § 608.01(o). Correction of the following is required: The specification does not support the first flow path being substantially straight, as recited in claim 5. Since this was in an original claim, the feature can be added, provided that no new matter is entered.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Eckerbom 2004/0210152. Eckerbom shows a device with a tube 4, a measurement chamber 18, and a flow directing member 21 disposed in the interior of the tube to direct flow to the measurement chamber. The examiner notes that the term measurement chamber is merely an open space where a measurement may be made. With respect to claim 4, the flow directing member is general a T-shape with a stem and a cross piece, with the stem oriented at the chamber.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Brooker et al 6,367,315. Brooker shows a device with a tube 10, a measurement chamber 20, and a flow director 76 for directing flow into the chamber. The examiner notes that since Brooker has all of the structure, it anticipates the claims, even though it is for a different purpose as applicant's device, as Brooker is capable of receiving a respiratory flow.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Labuda et al 6325978. Labuda et al shows a device having a housing see figure 1 having a measurement chamber 36 located therein, a first connection on the housing to receive inspiratory flow through tube 42 and a second and third connections, i.e. the Y connector, which function as recited in the claim. The examiner notes that the first and third connections are directed at the measurement chamber.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Eckerbom in view of Babb et al WO 89/07956. The flow directing means of Eckerbom is not shaped as recited in claims 2 and 3. However, Babb shows a device with a flow director that is a triangle and has the point directed towards the measuring chamber. Hence, it would have been obvious to modify the Eckerbom to use the flow director of Babb, as it is merely the substitution of one known equivalent flow director for another. In addition, Babb has a rectangular piece at the bottom of the triangle.
